WORLD PREMIERE OF REQUIEM FROM MARCH 23 TO 26, 2023

Montreal, February 28, 2023 - Les Grands Ballets is happy to present the double bill REQUIEM from March 23 to 26, 2023 at Place des Arts with a choir, soloists and Les Grands Ballets Orchestra directed by Adam Johnson.

Commissioned by Ivan Cavallari, artistic director of Les Grands Ballets, Andrew Skeels' creation Requiem on Brahms' music will be unveiled as a world premiere before being presented at The Université de Sherbrooke's Centre culturel on March 28, 2023. Between the playfulness of Mozart and the intensity of Brahms, this mesmerizing double bill brings the audience into a true emotional vibrato.

A monumental work, Johannes Brahms' A German Requiem is one of the most deeply personal and powerful compositions ever written. With Requiem, choreographer Andrew Skeels offers spellbinding staging with contemporary choreography inspired by the stirring notes of Brahms's composition. The creation of this piece had started before the pandemic and its presentation to the public had been postponed. It is therefore a great pleasure for the choreographer and the dancers to unveil the world premiere of Requiem in Montreal.

A German Requiem is an elegy created following the loss of his mentor, composer Robert Schumann, and of his mother. Inspired by the solemn beauty of the piece, choreographer Andrew Skeels presents a poignant work that explores the profundity of human connections. In this strong, meditative creation, he evokes the memory of those who leave but who stay with us nonetheless.

« The audience is the final element that gives life to a dance.»

Andrew Skeels, choreographer

Presented in the first part of the show, Jeunehomme is a piece for 21 dancers by Uwe Scholz (1958-2004) that pays homage to the beauty as well as the melancholy of the great composer's works. Along with Symphony No 7, this piece is the second one by the belated German choreographer – who trained at John Cranko Schule in Stuttgart – to be added to Les Grands Ballets' repertory.

The pas de deux from Jeunehomme had fascinated the audience as a part of the mixed bill CARMEN, back in October 2022. The complete piece, which shows great musical subtlety, will enthral spectators through its three movements. The discipline of the six couples in perfect harmony and the three soloists' beautiful technique complete the graceful and emotional pas de deux.

The Piano Concerto No. 9 in E ♭ major, K. 271, known as the Jeunehomme concerto, is said to have been composed for Victoire Jenamy (incorrectly understood by Mozart as "Jeunehomme"), daughter of dancer and ballet master Jean-Georges Noverre. Composed in 1777 when Mozart was 21, the concerto met critical acclaim and is now considered as his first undisputed masterpiece in any genre. It is not only the earliest of Mozart's piano concertos to remain in the popular repertory, but one of the finest by any standard.
